Food Program Is Mandatory

BY CARROLL WILSON

Randall County will have to participate in either a food distribution program or a food stamp program within 60 days, according to a state welfare department official.

Wayne Kuykendall confirmed speculation this week that a ruling last week by a Dallas U. S. district court judge will directly affect Randall County.

To initiate a food program for indigent families in the county could cost as much as $700 per month to the county.

The judge ruled that 90 counties in Texas--including Randall--must have one of the two types of food assistance programs.

"Yes, it will affect Randall County," Kuykendall said. "Every county must have some sort of food assistance program."

Kuykendall said the judge set 60 days from Monday as the deadline for initiating a program.

A meeting will be held on Jan. 16 for county commissioners and judges from the Panhandle area for explaining the judge's ruling and the two food assistance programs, Kuykendall said.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in the Coronado Inn in Amarillo. It is one of several meetings held throughout the state before the deadline to explain the decision.

The meeting will be sponsored by the state welfare department.

Kuykendall said officials from USDA and other welfare offices will attend the meetings.

Randall County Commissioners turned down a commodity distribution program for needy families in late October when Kuykendall appeared at that time.

The commissioners contended that not enough needy families lived in the county to justify the expense of the program.

Under the commodities distribution program, which is handled through the federal Department of Agriculture, the county must purchase a certain amount of the commodities, store the foods and distribute them to needy families.

Currently, Randall County operates a welfare system whereby the county purchases groceries for needy famiies.

At the October meeting, County Judge Carroll E. Brown pointed out that the county had spent only about $300 on needy families since the Jan. 1, 1969.

He said only about six needy families had applied for aid at that time.

Brown when interviewed Tuesday said the county commissioners have received no official word that the judge's ruling will have any affect on them.

He said, however, he felt the needs of Randall County for a food assistance program are not the same as some other counties.

Kuykendall, interviewed Tuesday, said the food stamp program form of assistance would cost the county more money to operate than the commodities distribution program.

Basically, Kuykendall said the food stamp program allows indigent families to buy stamps which will in turn allow them to trade the stamps for groceries in approved stores.

The amount of stamps purchased by the family is based on a set index involving the family's income and size.

The big benefit of the stamp program, he said, is that the federal government issues each family a bonus amount of stamps for further purchase of food stuffs.

The food commodities distribution program, according to Kuykendall, would be open to members of the unemployed and low-income groups, families of migrant workers and other families whose members are receiving Social Security benefits or grants under public welfare.

The program would involve the hiring of someone to interview the needy families and distribute the commodities. A central distribution center would have to be built and transportation from the commodities storage point in Amarillo to Canyon would have to be made available.

When here in October, Kuykendall said, according to government figures, about 700 persons in the county could use some form of food assistance.

Request Is Heard On Road Closing

Randall County Commissioners heard Monday a request that they ask the State Highway Department to close the Hunsley Hills Road intersection with U. S. 87 about one half mile north of Canyon.

Troy Martin, publisher of The Canyon News, appeared before Commissioners Court with the request.

"We've had a hellacious lot of accidents out there," Martin said.

He pointed out that recently a woman and child were killed in a two-car collision at the intersection. Martin requested that Commissioners ask that the through lanes of U. S. 87 be allowed to run unhindered by the crossing of Hunsley Road. He asked that Hunsley Road be closed at its entrance to the U. S. 87 west access road, which would still allow residents to drive either north or south on the access road.

"I've never seen the reason for that road," said Commissioner Jim Fletcher. "It's the only open road on the e-way."

Commissioner Bill Butler said he thinks the road "ought to be closed--I've had several narrow escapes down there myself."

The item will be placed on next week's agenda for consideration by the court.

The Commissioners were also requested to begin an investigative drug program in Randall County.

Jim Killingsworth, indicating he represents a group of business and professional people in the county, recommended to the commission that it spend county funds on county drug abuse investigation.

"We have a recommendation that is very general in nature," he said. "That this money (money now given Amarillo for a drug program) and possibly more money be used to hire an investigator for Randall County and have him under the district attorney's office rather than the sheriff's office. He could work in close cooperation with the City of Canyon and Randall County's Sherriff's office."

Killingsworth said if the county hires its own investigator, it can have better control over how money is spent.

Currently, Randall County is paying $3,300 to Amarillo for their use in hiring two undercover men to search out drugs in the area.

"We feel there's a large enough problem in Randall

ASCS Manager

Confirms Change

BY SAM ALLRED

The Randall County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service in Canyon received official confirmation Friday of two serious changes in the 1970 feed grain program, according to Donald F. Lloyd, office manager.

The changes, made by the United States Department of Agriculture, are in the form of a reduction in diversion payments and the elimination of advance diversion payments.

The diversion payment for 1970 will be cut from 45 per cent of the total county price support rate to 40 per cent, according to an announcement from the ASCS state office in College Station.

Lloyd said Monday he had "not received much comment from local farmers concerning the program as yet."

"The state office is aware of the situation here," Lloyd said. "They have been working right along with everyone else to keep the advance payment program."

The office manager said the USDA budget "has been hurting us all the way through."

"Even last year we wanted some things we couldn't get," he said.

The diversion payment cut, figured at 10 cents per hundred times the farm's projected yield of 5,000 pounds per acre, will amount to $5.00 per acre.

While the monetary loss per acre will be felt by all farmers diverting acreage above the 20 per cent required for participation in the program, Lloyd said the discontinuation of the advance payments "would be the biggest problem of all."

"We normally have from $1 million to $1.5 million in advance payments in February and March," he said. "At this time of year the farmer has, or is having to get, his financing together for the year. If he doesn't get the money from us he has to get it somewhere else."

Two local bankers said the situation would be handled, but it would require sacrifices all the way around.

"I'm afraid the banks are not in a position to carry the loan because of tight money," said Levi Cole of the First National Bank in Canyon. "It is going to take that much more money out of circulation."

Cole said that banks and other loan agencies will have to advance the money, but that it would probably be at no less than 8.5 per cent interest.

"It will be a situation that where the farmer is good you will just have to carry him," Cole said.

Dean House, executive vice presidnet of the West Texas State Bank in Canyon, said farmers are going to have to "live a little closer and tighten up their belts."

"This situation was probably going to happen anyway because of the tight money situation all over," House said. "It takes a great deal of money for a farmer to just operate. If you cut any part of that money it

Sherman In Race For State Senate

An Amarillo attorney, Max R. Sherman, will announce his candidacy today for the state senate seat for the 31st Senatorial District.

Grady Hazlewood, many years state senator, now holds the position.

Sherman said he is announcing his candidacy at this time in order to urge qualified citizens to register to vote in the May 2 primary and November general election.

He said he has been visiting in the 20 counties represented by the 131st district and believes that as a life-long resident of the Panhandle makes him more aware of the needs of the area.

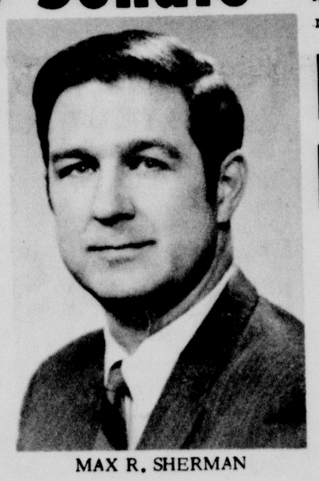

Although he is a native of Viola, Ark., Sherman moved as an infant to Phillips where he attended public schools.

He attended Baylor University where he was president and vice president of the student body, president of the sophomore class and president of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association.

He is a graduate of the University of Texas Law School, where he was president of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

He received many awards throughout his college career.

Following graduation from law school, Sherman entered the Army as a recruit, but later received a commission in the Judge Advocate General's Corps.

First Marriage Under New Law Sought Here

BY CARROLL WILSON

They were a nice looking couple--she miniskirted and he natural shoulder. They looked young, maybe late teens, and nervous.

They came to the Randall County Clerk's office Monday afternoon. They wanted to be married--common law.

He was 20 and she was 16. They were the first to come to the county clerk's office here to sign an affadavit declaring themselves informally married.

According to an interpretation of the Family Code handed down in early November by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin the code states that as of Jan. 1, boys between the ages of 16 and 19, and girls between the ages of 14 and 18, can declare common law marriage by affadavit without their parents' consent.

The ruling stirred outraged reaction from some parents in the county after the attorney general's opinion was released.

Leroy Hutton, county clerk, said since Jan. 1, he has had five inquiries from youngsters about the common law marriage affadavits.

But, the couple Monday were the first to really attempt such a marriage. A common law marriage of this type requires no ceremony and the affadavit will be considered proof in a court of law.

The boy and girl left Hutton's office Monday without signing the affadavit. The girl was crying.

Hutton said he talked with the couple about 45 minutes at his office, explaining the law and an oath which the two must sign.

Hutton admitted he was tough on the two.

To declare a common law marriage--or informal marriage as it is referred to--the couple must sign the following oath and declaration:

DECLARATION

We, the undersigned, declare that we are married to each other by virtue of the following facts: On or about _____ we agreed to be married, and after that date we lived together in this State as husband and wife and in this State represented to others that we were married.

OATH

I solemnly swear (or affirm) that the above declaration is true, that the information I have given herein is correct, that I am not presently married to any other person, and that I am not related to the other party to the delcaration within the degrees prohibited by law.

Hutton said he asked the young couple for proof that they have lived in the state together, as husband and wife, and have represented themselves as husband and wife to others.

He asked them to return with the proof.

Later that afternoon, however, Hutton received a telephone call from parents of one of the youngsters. The mother told Hutton her child had run away from home last Thursday.

The chances are slim that the two will have a chance to set up housekeeping--in order to meet the specifications of the oath--before they are picked up as run-aways and returned to their parents, Hutton said.

Hutton said county clerks

Lindsey Says He Won't Run Again

Canyon Mayor Paul E. Lindsey announced Wednesday he will not seek re-election to the post.

An active participant in city government since the early 1950s, Lindsey has served as mayor since 1966.

"I need to devote more time to my personal business," the mayor said. "There's no other reason for my not running again."

Lindsey is a farmer and cattleman and a long-time city resident. He served on the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department many years.

In 1954, the mayor was elected to his first term as a city commissioner. Except for a two-year period, he served on the commission until his election as mayor in 1966.

Lindsey said he is announcing his intentions early to allow others who may desire to seek the office the knowledge that he will not run again.

So far, no one has indicated they will run for the office.

City elections will be April 2. Commissioners Jim Christopher and H. R. Fulton also have terms expiring this year.

"I've enjoyed a lot of it," the mayor said, speaking of his work as mayor. "It's really been a challenge to try to get something done. There have been parts of it, though, that I haven't enjoyed too much."

Since his tenure in public office, Canyon has doubled in population and potential.

As mayor, Lindsey has seen the construction of a new sewer plant southeast of the city.

One of the first items of business when he became mayor was to push for the consolidation of telephone lines between Amarillo and Canyon. In December of 1968, the lines were joined and phone calls between the two cities were made toll-less.

They mayor has also seen the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission formed during his tenure. Canyon is a member of the PRPC.

The city has purchased land for construction of a new city hall and a city library, the latter project the mayor thinks should be at the top of the list for future administrations.

Various street and traffic improvements have come about under his reigns.

Third and Fifth Avenues have been widened through the city and streets around the town square have been widened. New signal devices and left-turn lanes will be installed on 23rd Street at Spur 48 and at 10th Avenue.

Woman Is No Billed

A 76-year-old woman facing possible negligent homicide charges as the result of a two-car collision Dec. 13 at Hunsley Road and U. S. 87 will not go to trial but may lose her driving privileges.

The January term members of the Randall County Grand Jury Monday no-billed Mrs. Rose Edison, who was critically injured in the accident which claimed the lives of Stephanie Martinez, 7 months, and Mrs. Lucille Paddock, 85.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael Hinton said Monday it was the opinion of the district attorney's office that Mrs. Edison's age and physical condition would preclude her standing trial.

"The grand jury did strongly recommend that Mrs. Edison

COVERING FUMBLES

by Dan Webb Jones

I am often reminded of those horse trades between a Baptist deacon and a Church of Christ elder. They were "friends" and reasonably honorable Christian men; but nothing was barred when each tried to cheat the other in a horse trade.

ON HIS FIRST DAY, Michael Ray Inman is shown with his mother, Mrs. Jack H. Inman of 8405 Wilshire, Amarillo. The Inman infant was the first born in 1970 at Neblett Memorial Hospital in Canyon and weighed in at 7 pounds 2 ounces while measuring 19 inches in length. He was born at 12:14 p.m. January 6. His father is employed with the City of Amarillo and the Inmans have one other child, a daughter, Teresa, age 15. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Galbreath of Sulphur, Louisiana and Mr. and Mrs. Roe Green of Wheeler.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

I took the family skiing at Red River over the holidays.

Didn't get on them myself. I went skiing with Don Standley about six years ago and rolled two trips into one--my first and last.

One of the kids in our party sprained a knee and we took her to the hospital in Taos.

The people at Taos are pretty upset about the hippies moving in on them. Hippies with money have bought up some property around Taos and are opening "love" colonies.

The natives are incensed. The hippies are another breed. They toil not, neither do they spin.

They have a lot to say about love. I talked to a woman in her early twenties. Her face was dirty and her hair was to her waist. She was carrying a nine month old baby in her arms.

The poor little fellow was waiting to be admitted to the hospital for treatment of pneumonia. I was told that an older child had been treated only the previous week for double pneumonia.

Imagine the horrors for a child growing up among adults who have dropped out. Where there are children concerned, where is the love the hippies talk so much about?

The kids could use some concrete examples of parental love like the providing of food, clothing and shelter.

Off to a slow start, politics for the May primaries is beginning to take shape.

Max Sherman has announced for the state senate and will oppose Walter Knapp who has already announced. There's indication that Oofie Abraham of Canadian will make a bid for the job on the Republican ticket.

Grady Hazlewood hasn't made a formal announcement of his retirement yet but it's a safe bet that he won't seek re-election.

Former Congressman Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., has announced as a Democrat for the U. S. Senate. He will oppose Senator Ralph W. Yarborough.

Yarborough is a cinch to ask for the office again.

I was pleased to see that Bentsen has a strong anti-pollution plank in his platform.

Yarborough is running probably the toughest race since he went to the Senate, regardless of who runs against him. His liberal stance, plus his position on the Vietnam War are not going to help him much in this part of the state.

Yarborough has more in common with George McGovern, William Fulbright and Eugene McCarthy than he does with the people of this area.

He is a dedicated liberal.

Yarborough has only one thing going for him. He is an entrenched Senator and they're hard to dislodge. Look at McGovern who gets re-elected although only 19 percent of his constituents agree with his Vietnam position according to a recent poll.

Randall County commissioners have the Hunsley Hills Road on the agenda for next Monday. I hope they request the Highway Department to close its entrance to the E-way.

The entrance serves little purpose and is the cause of a great deal of mischief.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

In addition to a new year and a new decade, 1970 offers man the opportunity to put his failures and mistakes behind him, and renew his efforts to build a better world through building a better self.

The hope of this direly troubled earth does not lie in the freedom to do as one pleases. Luxury, recreation, entertainment, and the creature comforts that soften the body and anesthetize the soul are not the answer. The solution to man's problems lies in self-discipline.

Man, empowered by his Creator to weave his own fate--for good or for evil--has tamed the beasts of the field, harnessed the elements, and conquered the ocean and space. But no man ever finds true freedom and happiness until he conquers himself.

Man is apparently faced with two freedoms: the false, to do as he likes; and the true, to do as he ought. Duty well done is life's best substitute for happiness.

Character cannot be built, not anything of value ever accomplished without self-discipline. Great achievements and great careers are never won the easy way but only through rigid self-control.

The master pianist Paderewski explained his phenomenal success with the humble statement: "Before I was a master, I was a slave."

It is no more possible for a man to become the master of a craft at which he has never slaved than it is for him to become a man without ever having been a child.

The militant dissidents who are demanding social acceptance without acquiring social graces, positions without the power to fill them, and wealth without work, will never achieve their demands because they are demanding the impossible. But they may destroy the goose that lays the golden eggs they so covet.

Man's supreme fallacy is the conviction that the greater his possessions, the greater his joy. Almost the opposite is true. When a man has the possessions he needs, he possesses them; when he acquires more possessions than he needs, they possess him. The average rich man is a slave to his possessions.

Man can become accustomed to anything. If he will but learn to lead the good, productive life, habit will make it pleasant. Nothing can compare to the sense of peace and satisfaction that comes from the knowledge that one has done his work well.

Yet millions are currently seeking happiness, with recreation and entertainment as their only goal. Work, if it is done at all, is under duress. Everyone wants a five-figure income, but few want to work to earn it.

Our younger generation is, as always, the hope of the world. But, unfortunately, too many young people seem to be possessed with the main for "a good time." Work, at best, is for many a necessary evil.

How sad that they should be so misinformed. It is still more "blessed to give than to receive," and productive work is giving.

In spite of their many accomplishments, the Savage Sixties have passed with little regret. The Seventies can be different. They will be if we will all adopt Grellet's philosophy:

I shall pass through this world but once.

If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show,

Or any good thing I can do, let me do it now;

Let me not defer it or neglect it,

For I shall not pass this way again.

Kindness requires self-discipline and self-sacrifice, but it pays rich dividends. The only person any man has to live with is himself. If he wants to be happy, he should make of himself a nice person.

Overshoes Valuable As City Stays Icy And Cold

Stock in the Old Reliable Overshoe Co. of Canyon rose rapidly in value during the week as bitter cold and piercing winds sent residents digging for the woolies and the ear muffs.

A low temperature of 10 degrees, Sunday night set the stage for some hectic weather Monday morning, greeting work-bound motorists with fog, blowing snow and a chill index of minus 26 degrees.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Amarillo said winds Monday gusted to 35 m.p.h. from the North, moving most of the remainder of the 4.5 inches of snow that fell Dec. 29 to the south side of the highways.

There was little improvement throughout Monday as the temperature barely staggered to a 17 degree high, settled at an 11 degree low and chilled the area with .004 of an inch of precipitation.

Tuesday battled back from a low of 4 degrees to a high of 25, but prevailing conditions remained cold and miserable as far as most residents were concerned.

About 20 water meters were frozen by low temperatures, and city water employes worked out an innovative system to accomplish the thawing.

Charlie Newton conceived the idea of attaching a long extension to the tail-pipe of a city truck. The extension is long enough to reach into the water meter housings and the heat from the exhaust of the truck thaws the meters.

William Weiser, city water supervisor, said that while his crew were kept busy early this week thawing meters, no water mains were frozen.

The Weather Bureau attributed the cold weather to a pool of Artic air that moved South, slid down the Eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains and scurried rapidly to the High Plains.

"We were extremely fortunate there was not much moisture in the atmosphere here when the cold air arrived," one bureau weatherman said.

The spokesman said that if there had been extreme moisture in the air, snow could have fallen in amounts equal to the 4.5 inches received Dec. 29.

Icy highways may continue to be a problem until the sun comes up with enough force to start working on the piles of snow and ice.

The spokesman said a temperature of 32 degrees is sufficient to start changing frozen water to liquid, and the sun receives a little help from underground.

"The earth retains a much higher temperature," he said. "While it was 8 degrees Wednesday morning, Bushland reported the soil temperature at two inches was 32 degrees. The ground is actually helping melt the snow and ice

The Weather Bureau outlook for the month of January continues to call for temperatures below normal and an above normal amount of precipitation.

Rezoning Request Gets Denial

The City Planning and Zoning Commission Monday night turned down a request for rezoning of property in southeast Canyon for construction of an apartment house.

Several property owners from the area surrounding the proposed apartment house site protested the project at a public hearing held in conjunction with the Monday meeting.

Mrs. H. O. Baker of California and Mrs. Mae Nelson of Lubbock, owners of the property, which is in the 2400 block of 13th Ave., had requested the rezoning. Neither was present at the public hearing.

They had requested a change in the property's zoning from single-family to multiple-family.

Durwood Henderson of 2325 14th Ave. was first to protest the proposed rezoning. He said he lives across the alley from the projected apartment site.

"I feel it would decrease my property value and increase the traffic in the alley where children are often playing," he said. "Across the street is an apartment house and I've had occassion to drive down the alley there and there's a great deal more traffic."

Jack Warren of 2323 14th Ave. also protested for the same reasons. He also complained that with an apartment house more trash would accumulate in the area and that what little parking he now has would be restricted even more.

A board member of the Assembly of God Church, which is located adjacent the proposed apartment site, also complained that an apartment house would create unneeded noise, traffic congestion and parking problems.

Members of the commission voted unanimously, following the public hearing, to recommend to city commissioners that the request for rezoning of the property be denied.

Political Speakers Discussed By Chamber

Board members of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce discussed seeking a speaker for their annual banquet and politicians of every stripe were mentioned at the board's Tuesday night meeting.

Among names bandied about as possible speakers were Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, former Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Rep. Ralph Wayne and Rep. George Bush.

A board committee has already tried to attract Vice President Spiro Agnew and the NASA astronauts, but failed.

"The banquet committee has not yet selected a speaker, although they did try Vice President Agnew," said outgoing Chamber President Dean House. "He said he had an obligation in Amarillo in March and wouldn't be able to come."

Jim Christopher, who is a member of the board and a banquet committee, said his committee has a list of possible speakers.

It was suggested that if Barnes, Humphrey and others declined, the committee try to contact one of the speakers on the list. The board indicated it would prefer an educational-type speech.

Eddie Knowles, Canyon used car dealer, took over the reins of the chamber at the Tuesday meeting--the first meeting of the new year. Knowles was elected to succeed House at the November board meeting.

Other new officers assuming positions Tuesday night were Dr. Willis Harrison, vice president, and Don Vars, secretary-treasurer.

Immediately following his ascension to the presidency, Knowles asked for help in obtaining signatures on a petition to be sent the Texas Highway Commission for approval of a scenic road through Palo Duro Canyon.

Knowles said he had only about 200 signatures and Memphis had about 2,000 signatures.

He said the group which is trying to obtain the road through the canyon will meet with the highway commission on Jan. 29 in Austin.

House suggested the group seek the endorsement of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

In other business, the board approved the 1969 financial statement, which reflected a deficit of about $1,500.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of sending the winner of the February Miss Canyon contest, sponsored by the Canyon Study Club, to other regional beauty contests.

dry up, lady!

Think about it. Your biggest complaint about washday is probably the clothesline routine. With a family, it gets to be a hang up. You can spend a big part of your life hanging out T-shirts, mini-skirts and Hubby's socks. And sheets, and jackets, sweaters, bedspreads . . . even curtains. Not to mention the unmentionables.

You don't like lifting, lugging and wrestling loads of heavy, wet wash to the backyard. Then there's always the weather. Now's the time to do something about this bundle of problems with a GAS clothes dryer. A gas dryer does five loads of clothes for the price of one load in an electric dryer. So, dry up with gas.

Bruce-Shackelford Vows Are Pledged

Miss Margie Ann Bruce and Donald Wayne Shackelford were married December 27 in ceremonies at the Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the campus of West Texas State University with Rev. James T. Carter officiating at the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bruce of Hale Center. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shackelford of Tulia.

Red and white galdioli and pompoms decorated the chapel for the ceremony and the organist, Sandy Carter, presented "O Perfect Love" and "Oh Promise Me."

Mrs. Charles Triplett of Plainview, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Judith McClaren of Idalou and Nancy Forbess of Dalas were bridesmaids. They wore identical red satin dresses styled similar to the bride's gown with red and white bouquets. They wore matching red headpieces.

Gary Shackelford of Tulia, brother of the bridgroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Gary Thurman of Lubbock and Charles Triplett of Plainview. Larry Triplett was ring bearer.

Ushering were David Bruce, brother of the bride, from Hale Center and Paul Cruce of Lubbock.

Given in marriage by her father, Gene Bruce, the bride wore a formal length empire gown of satin peau de soie with round neckline, long sleeves and lace trim on the front panels. Tiny bows and pearls accented the wedding gown.

A reception honoring the couple was held at the Baptist Student Center on campus with Mrs. Roman Weavers and Mrs. Al Murdock of Happy in charge of the reception. Mrs. Gary Thurman and Miss Patty Simpson served. Mrs. John Drake was at the guest book for both the wedding and reception.

For a wedding trip to South Texas and New York City, the bride changed to a matching white coat and dress of knit. Her corsage was lifted from the bridal bouquet.

After the wedding trip, the couple will be at home at Red Bank, New Jersey near Fort Monmouth where the bridegroom is serving with the United States Army.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Happy High School and will graduate from West Texas State University in January 1970.

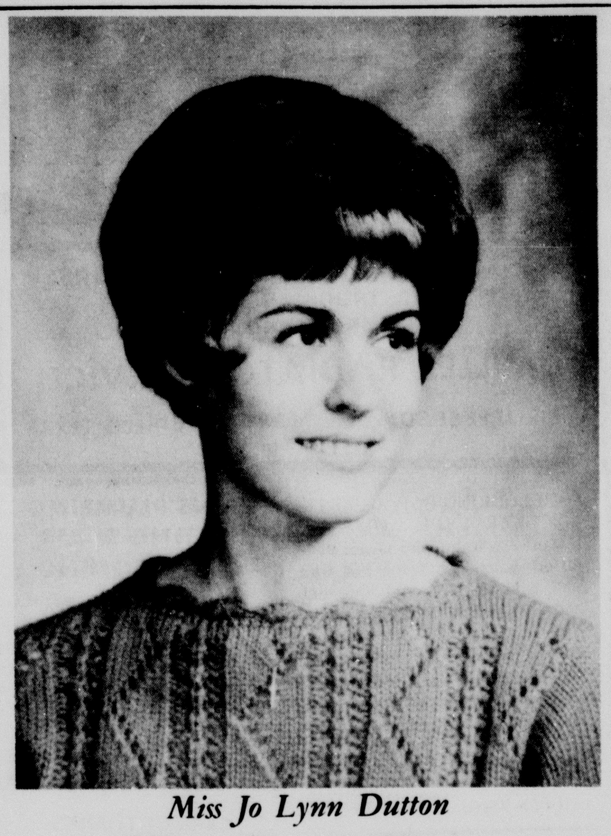

A 1964 graduate of Tulia High School, the bridegroom earned his degree in mechanical engineering from Texas Tech in 1969. He was a member of Pi Tau Sigma national mechanical engineering honorary fraternity and was a research engineer for Halliburton Services in Duncan, Oklahoma.

"Junior Dear" Set For Review

The third in a series of Canyon Federated Club Council sponsored "book reviews" will be given Monday evening, January 12, at 8 p.m. in Room 101, University Complex South, at West Texas State Univesity.

The reviews are benfitting a library building fund project for the Canyon City Library, according to Mrs. Crews Henry, council chairman.

Tickets for the review are $1.50 and the public is invited. Season passes will be honored at the review.

The review Monday evening will be given by Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, wife of the Canyon Public School superintendent. She will review the book "Junior Dear" which was published in 1968 with her mother, Gladys Miller of Hereford, as author.

"It is a fiction story based on fact and shows the Panhandle during the days of the depression in the dismal '30s," said Mrs. Jacobs. "It is a story of youth's triumphant faith in itself."

Mrs. Jacobs, who was one of five children, was raised near Dawn and attended the West Texas State demonstration high school and college where she earned the B. A. degree. She later took additional work at the University of Texas and is now working on her master's degree at West Texas State University.

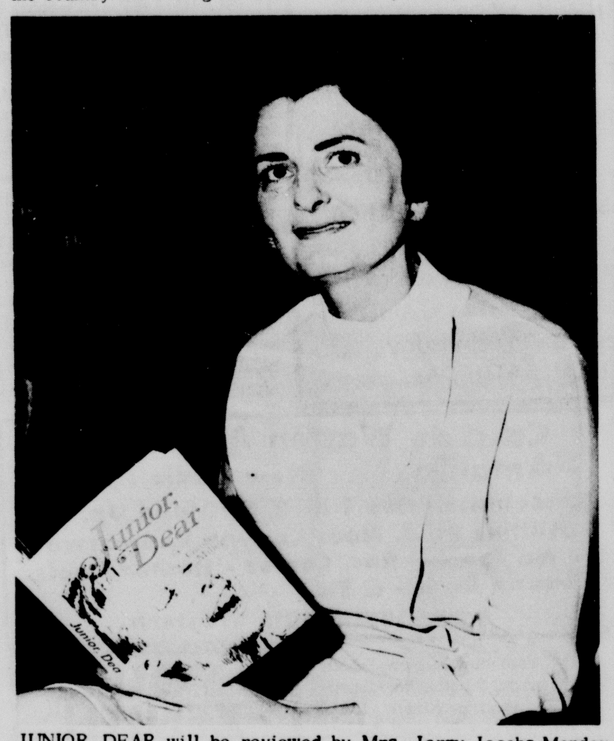

The mother of two, Mrs. Jacobs is employed as clinician with the Developmental Vision Reading Clinic in Canyon and has previously taught "mostly in the grade school and as reading consultant." The Jacobs have served schools in Texline, Channing and Lefors and taught five years at Edna, near Houston, prior to coming to Canyon.

Her mother, the author of "Junior Dear", has also written "Mama, The Preacher" which was published in 1969 and is presently working on her third book.

Speaking of her book, Mrs. Miller said "it was so dry and people had a bleak future with both the drouth and depression of the '30s--but the people had faith in their country which couldn't be dimmed and now it is the salad bowl of this part of the country and among the fastest growing areas in the nation."

Mrs. Miller, who came to the area in 1930 with two small children, recalls the depression and related that "you had to live through it to remember the lessons learned. The people went on sending their children to college and encouraging an education. The people had an unwavering faith and raised their gardens and brought themselves out of that terrible time."

Mrs. Jacobs, who will review her mother's book, related that "even then Canyon was a special place," and since her faith in Canyon has been "reinforced as she went to other communities across the state."

JUNIOR DEAR will be reviewed by Mrs. Jerry Jacobs Monday evening as a part of a series sponsored by the Canyon Federated Club Council. The book was written by Mrs. Jacobs' mother, Gladys Miller of Hereford.

will hurt."

House said the bank "is going to stay with our people."

"We have enough faith in this part of the country to get the money for them," he said.

The banking executive said he felt the government was "putting all the pressure on the farmer they know now how to put."

"I don't feel the major problem is the government," he said. "I think it is the result of the city populace thinking all the farmers are getting rich."

If the tight money situation reaches the extent that area banks and loan institutions cannot fund all the farmers who need pre-planting money, what then?

"I think the fuel and fertilizer and chemical companies are going to have to carry the load," said Bob Lindsey of the Lindsey Land and Cattle Co., of Canyon.

Lindsey, who has 834 acres in the diversion program in Randall and Deaf Smith Counties, said "It sounds to me like the government is trying to get us to produce our products at a cost where the country can compete on the world market."

"But the government has an embargo to keep someone from building a less expensive tractor and bringing in the country to sell," he said. "We can't compete on the world market and pay an old boy in Racine, Wisc., $5 per hour to build our tractors."

Donald Olson, who has reduced his diversion acreage to 250 acres, said the governmental cutbacks are "going to create a sad situation."

"The farmers are caught in a cost-price squeeze," Olson said. "This is just going to put an additional strain on the farmer."

Olson said he had not had a chance to study the governmental rulings but felt there might be a chance for optimism.

"When all the evaluations are made from all the rural areas maybe enough pressure can be brought to reverse the rulings," he said.

Farm credit programs are not a new innovation to major fertilizer and chemical companies, according to David Wilder, comptroller of Taylor Evans in Amarillo.

"Major companies have been doing a lot of this already," Wilder said. "A farmer has been able to put all his fertilizer and chemicals on crop terms since about 1964."

But Wilder cautioned that a farmer's credit is checked thoroughly by the companies and that "a person who has weak credit could probably do better going to the bank first."

Although it is too early to forsee the complete effect the latest USDA changes will have on area farming, certain patterns can be detected.

All farmers will feel the squeeze of less money coming in while operating costs zoom. The small farmer, or the farmer who has extended himself for new equipment or expansion may feel the squeeze even more.

One thing is certain. Between now and February a lot of farmers will put a lot of thought into pre-planting operating costs.

County that we want a full-time man in the county toward this end," Killingsworth said.

County Judge Carroll E. Brown noted that about 80 per cent of the population of the county lives in Amarillo and will benefit from the Amarillo drug plan.

Commissioners noted they don't have the money to pursue both prgrams.

No action was taken on Killingsworth's proposal.

Dr. Dudley Moore, county health officer, told commissioners at the meeting that to control dumping problems at the city of Canyon dump ground, they should leave night-time facilities for dumping and should have a sheriff's deputy periodically patrol and make arrests on the road leading to the dump.

The doctor said the city should clean up the top layer of trash at the dump ground to guard against rats and stray dogs.

"As an observer I hope we can pick up refuse out there three times a week," he said, "and have a deputy out there occasionally--arrest a few people and it won't take long for word to get around."

The county has been troubled recently with residents dumping heaps of trash on the county road which leads to the dump.

"Make a trench right inside the gate, and fence it off so people can drop their trash on off-hours," Dr. Moore recommended.

In other action, commissioners voted to send their $1,817 as payment to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

The PRPC met Wednesday in Dumas.

County clerk Leroy Hutton was instructed by the court to begin making preparations for primary elections in May.

Canyon City Commissioners will hear a request tonight by Troy Martin, publisher of The Canyon News, that they ask the Texas Highway Department to close to through traffic the Hunsley Hills Road-U. S. 87 intersection.

Martin made a similar request Monday of Randall County Commissioners, who will discuss the issue at their next meeting.

Other items on the agenda for tonight's session include the consideration of placing no-parking signs on 23rd Street near Spur 48 and near 10th Avenue. The signs will be placed in conjunction with new traffic signals and left-turn lanes, which are under construction at both intersections.

SOAP and ELECTRICITY
Blackouts and Outages

■ There's a difference between soap and electricity. There's a difference between blackouts and outages.
The famous soap prides itself on being 99 and 44/100% pure. That's pretty close to perfect, isn't it. But does it surprise you when we tell you that electricity—the electricity we provide for you—that you use here has a reliability record of 99.997% . . . which is almost 100% pure.
That's the difference between soap and the electricity you use.
But, you say, what about blackouts? Well, it's this way. We define a blackout as a shortage of power. A situation when you, as a group of people, are using more electricity than the equipment that generates, transmits and distributes it can provide.

■ We don't have that here. We will not have that in 1970 here.
Sure, there might be some isolated service interruptions which we call outages. Despite our 99.997% reliability record, there still may be some lightning strikes on a transformer, or a squirrel getting confused in a substation, or a careless driver knocking down some of our equipment, and, yes . . . we may have an equipment failure or a human failure . . . we're still not perfect . . . even though we try to be. In most cases we'll have your power back within the hour.

■ We're concerned with reliability and with the cost of our service. That's why we've averaged spending $20 million a year on new, modern and more efficient equipment. This year we'll invest another $25 million.
We expect to give you all the electric power you need with more purity than the famous soap and at the lowest possible cost.
That's our pledge for 1970.

School Lunches Served To Thousands Each Day

HIGH SCHOOL CAFETERIA manager, Mrs. Dorothea Green, sorts the cheese for "hamburgers" during the regular scheduling of school lunches.

BY LORENA MILLER

One thousand eight hundred and fifty-one lunches were served daily to public school students of Canyon Independent School District at the close of the first month of school.

The average daily participation figures for the school show 214 eating in the cafeteria at Canyon High School; 539 at Canyon Junior High, 841 at Rex Reeves Elementary and 257 at Gene Howe Elementary. The Umbarger School does not have lunchroom facilities.

Cafeteria coordinator and supervisor, L. H. Brotherton said that the first month's average will generally hold true for the remainder of the school year.

"The community can be assured that the cafeteria managers and co-workers try hard to put out appetizing and wholesome meals for the money available to do the job," said Brotherton.

Available to the cafeterias of the schools at the high school level are 50 cents per plate and the daily average cost sheet indicates that it will "cost more to feed a high school student than one in elementary".

High school sutdents pay a lunch plate fee of 45 cents, which is matched by the state with federal money amounting to 5 cents for Type A lunch with milk and 3 cents for Type A lunch without milk.

At the junior high level meals are 40 cents and elementary students pay 35 cents per meal.

"So we have available 50 cents per student to fix their meals at the high school level, counting the 45 cent charge and the 5 cent state fund," related Brotherton. "To make those 50 cent lunches worth a dollar--we use available commodities."

Each month commodities for the schools include flour, cornmeal, lard, canned goods like apricots and peaches and vegetables such as corn and peas.

"All we usually do on commodities," said Brotherton, "is to pay the freight, handling and storage.

"For instance, November 7 we were notified to pick up 96 cases of chickens for which we pay 24 cents per case for storage and freight to us.

"This commodity shipment of chickens will amount to enough to feed students at all four cafeterias of the school three times around," he related.

"Our philosophy in the lunch program," Brotherton said, "is not to make money but feed the students on available money and not create a surplus.

"We have meetings of cafeteria supervisors and principals (when possible) each month to make menu plans for the coming month. These planning sessions (one for elementary and a separate one for high school-junior high) take about three hours.

"We have to be careful on how many foods to be baked in a single day--such as making hot rolls and having baked dessert also on the menu schedule for that day.

"We usually serve peaches or a baked-ahead dessert on days when the ovens and facilities are to be used for a special items.

"Then too, we consider that some of the schools show that their students don't like broccoli while other schools show that theirs do--so we make accommodations that way in the menu scheduling.

"The cafeteria supervisors order supplies a week ahead, and when a commodity shipment comes in and is available they supplement the regular menu with commodity foods.

"Our cold storage is very limited for the schools as the only frozen food walk-in storage is located at the high school. The other schools have small uprights for frozen food storage. All of the schools have the walk-in coolers for storage of butter, lard and other items which need not be frozen.

Managers for the school cafeterias are Mrs. Dorothea Green, high school; Mrs. Cecillia Szydloski, junior high; Mrs. Ruby Bonds, Rex Reeves; and Mrs. Cecile Weathers, Gene Howe.

In addition to the cafeteria managers, full- and part-time cafeteria staff includes 34 additional cooks, dishwashers, etc.

Part-time help comes during the lunch serving period to serve as dishwashers and dining room assistants. School custodians take care of the cafeterias on "rent nights", when the cafeterias are used for community affairs.

While in the cafeteria, students have teachers alternating as disciplinarians. The schools vary their systems of discipline. In Gene Howe students eat lunch with the homeroom teacher while in the other schools teachers alternate lunchroom duty for several classes.

"A majority of our teachers also eat their lunches in the school cafeteria," stated Brotherton.

A very low percentage (about one percent) of the students eat in the cafeterias on a non-paying basis, because they are from needy families of the community.

Cafeteria workers begin their day about 7:30 a.m. and lunchlines are ready for serving about 11 o'clock.

Of course at holiday times, noted Mrs. Green of the high school cafeteria "special menus for Thanksgiving and Christmas call for additional work including the afternoon before making pumpkin pies and baking the turkeys".

L. H. BROTHERTON, coordinator of cafeterias for the Canyon Public Schools, checks the zero storage locker at the high school building.

HAMBURGER DAY is busy at the grill as cafeteria workers, from left, Didemma Rogers, Helen Fain and Theresa Bellinghausen keep the burgers sizzling in order to be ready for the noon lunch hour.

Livestock Show Is Next Week

More than 100 Randall County youngsters are expected to make the 23rd Annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show the largest show and sale ever held in Canyon.

The show will be held Jan. 16-17 in the Randall County Jr. Livestock Building, with Joe Turpin as general superintendent.

Departments under Turpin's supervision will include swine, lamb, horse, steer, beef heifer and dairy.

Benny Abbott, superintendent of the Swine department, said this week he expected about 100 barrows to be weighed in by 5 p.m. Friday, making his department the largest of the show.

Judging the Swine show will be Jerry Stockton, Vocational-Agriculture instructor at Friendship High School in Wolfforth. Judging is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

The Beef Cattle department is expected to increase this year, with an estimated 25 steers to be ready for judging at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Ronnie Daly of West Texas State University will judge the Beef Cattle. Daly has had extensive training and experience as a cattle judge.

Thirty-five Fat Lambs will be paraded before judge Jerry Stockton at 1 p.m. Saturday. Bill McCarley, superintendent, said he expected some "top quality" lambs to be shown.

Lamb feeding is increasing in popularity in Randall County, although young members must travel the country seeking good quality feeder lambs to select as projects.

The labms will be divided between Southdown medium wool and fine wool breeds. No Grand Champion will be selected due to the wide differences in type and purpose of each class.

The selecting, training, feeding and fitting of animals such as beef heifers, horses and gilt pigs is receiving increased attention from county youths, according to John Brazzil, county agent.

Animals of these types will be shown but not sold at the junior livestock show.

Earl Reynolds, superintendent of the Horse department, said the horse show will be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday at the university farm pavilion.

The beef heifer and dairy heifer shows will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at the livestock building in Canyon. About a dozen animals in each department are expected to be entered.

Gilt pigs will be shown Saturday morning. Each Gilt pig must have health papers showing it has been treated with cholera serum prior to the show.

NEWS BRIEF

Kwahadi Indians To Perform Annual Khiva Ceremonies

Eleven Canyon boys will participate in the annual Kwahadi Indian Dances held at Explorer Post 80 Khiva in Amarillo, January 22,23, and 24th.

The Kwahadi Dancers are made up of members of Explorer Post 80 of the Fais District of Llano Estacado Council of Boy Scouts in Amarillo and boast a membership of approximately 70 boys.

About sixty of the boys will be actually involved in the ceremonial. Forty of them will be performing as dancers and the others are slated for decorating the Khiva, making arts and crafts, and working at the refreshment center during the intermissions.

Proceeds from the ceremonials are used to finance trips of the Kwahadi group in order for them to learn authenic dances in the natural habitat. All of the dances, chants, and many of the costumes are authentic and are either made by the boys or are museum pieces that the boys have been able to purchase--some at great cost. Much of the costume jewelry is purchased from Indian tribes they visit but most of the costumes, genuinely indicating different tribal dress, are made by the boys and add lots of color to the ceremonials.

Some of the places traveled in the past have been to attend the Gallop inner-tribal ceremonies which bring together habits, customs, and costumes from Indians throughout the United States, Mexico, and South America. They have visited the Taos Indian School at Santa Fe, New Mexico, reservations of the Zuni Pueblos and Hopi Indians and many other resourceful areas.

Location of the Khiva is the Explorer Post 80 Scout Building just off Plains Boulevard on Bellaire Street several blocks west of Western Avenue in Amarillo.

Evening performances will start at 8:15 p.m. and the tickets sell at the door for $1.50 for adults, $1.00 for students, and 50¢ for children six years of age and under. A Special matinee performance will be held Saturday afternoon, January 24th at 2:30 p.m. All Scouts, with girl scouts or boy scouts, may attend the matinee for 75¢ and adults (not more than two per car of scouts) furnishing transportation and in charge of scouts groups, may attend free of charge, according to E. L. Donelson, Committeeman in Charge of Travel and Arrangements of the shows.

Canyon boys involved in the ceremonials are Dwight Davis, Ben Prichard, Todd Clodfelter, Duane Harp, Mike Lovelady, Nobie Cates, Charles Ritchie-WTSU, Dave Bailey-WTSU, Steve Napper-WTSU, Billy Walker-Texas Tech, and Glenn Harrison-WTSU.

Big John Burkhalter, right, prepares to go up for a basket during action Saturday night against the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds. West Texas State University won the tilt 84-74 before a hometown crowd in Buffalo Fieldhouse. The Buffs go against Pan American College tonight.

Buffaloes Face Hard Road Trip

West Texas State University's Buffaloes begin today a two-day road trip which could prove rugged.

After snapping a five-game losing streak Saturday night against Eastern New Mexico, the Buffs will travel to Edinburg tonight for a game against Pan American and Saturday will play nationally ranked Houston University's Cougars in Houston.

The Buffs whipped Pan American's Broncos 94-75 in Buffalo Bowl earlier this season, but the Broncs rebounded and now carry a 6-4 standard.

In the previous game, the Buffs hit 35 of 72 from the field for 48.6 per cent. Pan American hit 27 of 69 for 39.1 per cent.

From the free throw line, the Buffs hit 24 of 42 for 57.1 per cent and the Broncs hit 21 of 33 free throws for 63.6 per cent.

Dale Blaut, leading scorer through the year for the Buffs, had a good night in the earlier game, hitting 25 points to lead the winners. James McCloud hit 18, Gene Murdock hit 15 and Eddie Fitzgerald hit 10.

Pan American's probable defense for tonight will include 6-0 Stan Bane, 6-8 Frank Lorthridge, 6-5 Ed Mathis, 6-7 Calvin Oliver and 6-5 1/2 Fred Taylor. All the Bronco starters except Bane started for the team last year.

The University of Houston, which the Buffs go against Saturday night in Houston, is ranked number 11 in the country in basketball.

Boasting an 11-1 standard, the team may be as hard to beat as the team a few years ago which had such players as Elvin Hayes and Ken Spain.

The outing will be the first for Houston and WTSU this season, with the two teams to meet again on March 2 in the Civic Center in Amarillo.

Spain, 6-9, is back to start for the Cougars. He averaged 14.8 points per game last year. Other top returning lettermen to the Houston squad this season were Theodis Lee, 6-8, averaging 14.2; George Reynolds, 6-4, averaging 13.0; Ollie Taylor, 6-2, averaging 19.2; and Tom Gribben, 6-2, averaging 7.7.

In series play, the West Texans have defeated the Cougars only once and have lost five.

West Texas stopped defending NAIA national champion Eastern New Mexico Saturday to bring its standard for the year to 4-5.

Upon returning home after this weekend, the Buffs have the majority of their remaining games at home. They host 11 of their final 15 opponents. The first home clash after the trip is against Northern Arizona on Jan. 17. That game and the Trinity University contest on Jan. 22 are in Canyon, but the next two home games--against Weber State Jan. 24 and New Mexico State Jan. 27--are in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum.

As the temperature dropped well below the freezing point many city residents found their water meters frozen this week. Many college students, returning from a two-week holiday, found their meters frozen. A city water employe uses an innovation to thaw meters.

Above 150 High School Students Expected Saturday

More than 150 high school students from the Panhandle area are expected to attend the 13th Annual High School Drama Workshop to be held at West Texas State University Saturday. The workshop is sponsored by the Buffalo Masquers, the WTSU drama club.

"Particular emphasis this year will be toward the preparation of high school drama clubs for University Interscholastic League play contests," said James D. Kemmerling, WTSU speech instructor and sponsor of the Buffalo Masquers.

Guest speaker for the workshop will be Roy B. Brown, State Drama Director of the University Interscholastic League at Austin. In addition, WTSU students will lead discussions in play writing, make-up and lighting.

Six plays, directed and acted by WTSU students, will also be presented during the workshop. Among the plays to be presented will be "Peanuts and Popcorn," written and directed by Hal King, senior speech major from Canyon.

Other plays included in the program will be "Black Box," directed by Connie Clifton, sophomore speech and hearing therapy major from Canyon; "What Did You Learn in School Today?," directed by Glenda Coburn, senior English education major from Chilicothe and Nancy Arredondo, senior English education major from Abilene; and "The Physician in Spite of Himself," directed by Raymond Root, sophomore speech education major from Dumas and Pam Price, senior speech major from Kendall Park, N. J. The titles and directors of two additional plays will be announced at the workshop.

A meeting of the National Thespian Society, a state organization of high school students whose purpose is to create further student interest in theatrical studies, will be held in conjunction with the workshop.

Virginia Myers, Western Texas Thespian State Director from Lubbock High School, will be attending the meeting. New officers will be elected at the business meeting of the organization.

Mrs. Hicks Rites Held

Funeral services for Mrs. John H. Hicks of Abilene were conducted Saturday in Dallas.

Mrs. Hicks, 84, died December 31. She formerly lived in Canyon during the 1920's when her husband was pastor for the First Methodist Church here. He was later with Southern Methodist University in Dallas and preceded his wife in death in 1963.

Surviving Mrs. Hicks are one son, John, of Beaumont and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Jesse M. Hicks of Canyon.

Trial Date Set Monday

A trial date for the week beginning February 3 was set Monday during Randall County Court docket call for a 28-year-old Amarillo woman charged with negligent homicide as the result of a Dec. 17 traffic accident.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Stone of 1408 W. 20th is charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Charlotte Porter Hartwell, 30, of 2614 Duncan Drive in Amarillo.

Mrs. Stone allegedly ran a red light at the intersection of 34th and Washington and collided with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Hartwell.

The defendant wore a bandage on her left hand and limped slightly when she appeared at docket call with her attorney, Charles Fairweather of Amarillo. She is free on $500 bond set by Randall County Judge Carroll Brown.

Eagles Notch Wins Over Spearman, Springlake

The Eagles of Canyon High School soared Tuesday night as the boy's varsity slow-rolled past Spearman 55-51 and the girl's varsity bounced by Springlake 59-50.

Coach Bob Schneider's girl Eagles came back from a disappointing weekend tournament at Claude to sparkle past Springlake with a 67 per cent field goal average.

Looking toward the girl's first district game Tuesday, Coach Schneider said the team "is more ready for district games now than they were a week ago."

"The kids have more confidence in themselves now," he said. "They looked real good under pressure against Springlake."

Cheryl Davis hit for 19 points during the game and grabbed 11 rebounds to bolster the defense.

"Springlake hit for 72 per cent in the first quarter," Coach Schneider said. "We moved Davis down there and their average dropped to the low 20's in the second quarter."

Coach B. B. Kendrick's boy's varsity ran into foul trouble in the first quarter against Spearman but hustled back to beat the home team at their own slow-paced game.

"We were behind one point at the half and one point at the end of the third quarter," Kendrick said. "The biggest lead either team had was six points. Spearman plays a real slow game."

Canyon led by two points with 10 seconds to go when Larry Daniel hit two free throws to give the Eagles a four-point lead and put the game out of reach.

Jerry Landrum led the shooting with 18 points followed by Bobby Martin with 13.

Coach Kendrick praised the aggressive rebounding of Dorse Pennington, who grabbed 7 offensive and 6 defensive rebounds during the game.

The Eagles hit 7 for 13 from the free throw line and 25 of 59 from the field. The 41 per cent average from the field is going to have to improve, according to the coach.

"It is about what we have been averaging this year," he said. "But it is going to take more than that to beat the tough teams."

The boy's squad open district games at Perryton Friday night, and Coach Kendrick predicted more exciting action this year in district competition.

"I feel the district race will be pretty close this year," he said. "I don't think any one team will dominate it."

Kendrick said he thought the Eagles were "about two games ahead of where I thought they would be at this time of the year."

The boys are 12-6 for the season with the girls totalling a 14-7 record.

The girl Eagles meet Panhandle Friday night in the Canyon Gym.

Dr. Bright's Music At Composers Meet

Dr. and Mrs. Houston Bright of Canyon will be in Denton this week end for the second Festival of Texas Composers at North Texas State University where Paul Hume, music critic for the Washington D. C. Post, will be guest lecturer.

Dr. Bright's original works of "Seaweed" and "Concerto Grosso" have been selected among the original works of Texas Composers to be performed.

"Seeweed" was written for A cappella choir and "Concerto Grosso" is a three movement piece for concert band.

A series of concerts and lectures will honor the 13 Texas composers selected, including Dr. Bright, who is composer-in-residence at West Texas State University.

The festival is co-sponsored by NTSU School of Music, the Manuscript Archives Committee of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs and the Texas Fine Arts Commission. The first Festival of Texas Composers was held at the University of Texas at Austin in 1968.

Planned for the two-day event at NTSU are concerts by the Dallas Symphony Orchestra and the NTSU Concert Band, A Capella Choir, Chapel Choir and Faculty String Quartet. Hume will lecture at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in conjunction with the performances by the NTSU choirs.

Registration-Inspection For Automobiles Outlined

Motor vehicle registration tags will be easier to obtain this year as the Texas Highway Department has added a computerized motor vehicle registration system.

Renewal applications will be mailed to all vehicle owners in Texas sometime in January.

After February 1, the licenses will go on sale and may be purchased by returning the form received in the mail, the proper amount of license fee and a $1 service charge. The license tags will then be mailed to the home.

The forms may also be taken to the courthouse tax office where tags may be picked up in person. The new registration application eliminates the need to present certificate of title or last year's registration receipt to obtain license tags.

Deadline for having the new automobile tags on the vehicle is April 1.

Registration forms by mail should reach the tax office before March 1 to allow ample time for mail-return of the licenses.

Automobile inspection stickers for 1970 must be on all vehicles by the April 15 deadline. A change in inspection procedures in September 1969 will allow those with inspection stickers with separate "month numbers" until the same month in 1970 to renew their stickers. All stickers presently being applied to automobiles will have a "month number" attached to the bottom of the sticker and that automobile will be required for inspection in the corresponding month the following year.

Among other changes in inspection procedures will be the affixation of the sticker on the driver's side of the automobile, just opposite to past procedures, and the increase to $2 minimum for all stickers. The stickers are available at a majority of local garages and residents are urged to have inspections done early.

Along with other deadlines, residents are reminded that the final date for filing income tax forms with the Internal Revenue Service is also April 15.

Fire Hits Cabin In Palisades

Fire destroyed a cabin in the Palisades in northeast Randall County about 8:30 a.m. Monday despite efforts of Canyon firemen to save the wood structure.

Five units of the Canyon Fire Department fought high winds and blowing snow to get to the fire and then worked in sub-zero weather to extinguish the blaze.

The cabin, believed to be three rooms, was owned by R. N. "Bob" Mullican of Amarillo. It was occupied by Mullican and his wife.

Jack Jennings, Canyon Fire Chief, said no one was in the residence at the time of the fire. He said cause or origin of the fire was undetermined.

The house was raging when Canyon firemen arrived at the scene, and one fireman said of the house "you could see through it when we got there."

Deep snow and blowing winds with a temperature estimated to approach 25 degrees below zero with the chill factor added, hampered the firemen in their efforts to fight the fire.

The fire was one of the first of the new year for city firemen. Just hours before midnight Dec. 31, firemen fought their last fire for 1969 as Jennings Men's Wear burned on the downtown square.

THE R. N. "BOB" MULLICAN cabin in the Palisades is shown in the early morning Monday as smoke pours from the structure. Canyon Firemen fought the blaze in 25 degrees below zero considering the chill factor that morning as the home was destroyed.
